- The NSWPF 1000 is a fly-off competition that will follow a normal competition in accordance with APA Rules
- The normal competition must have a result in accordance with APA competition rules (i.e. a minimum of two flights must be flown per class)
- All pilots competing in the fly-off must comply with the technical regulations for radio controlled contests, F3A – Aerobatic Powered Model Aircraft (FAI Sporting Code)
- To be eligible for the major prize, each class must have at least 3 competing pilots except for Sportsman class
- At the end of the normal competition there will be a winner in each class
- The contest director will arrange for the random selection of 1 additional pilot from each class
- The class winners and the randomly selected pilots will be invited to fly in the fly-off round
- A panel of judges will be selected to judge all fly-off flights
- The raw score awarded for each flyoff pilot is calculated as a percentage of the average of the promotional raw score rounds awarded in the competition
- The pilot with the highest percentage score is declared the winner of the $1000 prize
- If the fly-off cannot proceed and the normal competition completed, the prize money will be awarded evenly to the winner of each class.
